H. H. BLACK,
DENTIST,

Office and Laboratory, No. 10, Alder Street, Four Doors from Front, Portland, Ogn.

HAVING secured the services of Dr. C. H. MACK, formerly of New York city, and late of St. Louis, who is an experienced and skillful Dentist, I am now prepared to manufacture and insert Artificial Teeth by the following methods, namely: GOLD, SILVER, RUBBER, AMBER, PORCELAIN BASE, GUM ENAMEL, RUBBER ATTACHMENT, CHEOPLASTIC, CONTINUOUS GUM, MICA and ENAMELED PLATE WORK. Some kinds of this work is recommended above all others, and needs but an inspection to prove its superiority for cleanliness, durability and life-like appearance to any artificial teeth in use.

Filling and cleaning teeth, and all operations in Dental Surgery, either mechanical, operative or surgical, performed in the most thorough and highly finished manner. None but the most permanent and finished operations performed, and no inducements to patients by low priced or roughly finished operations. I use no cement in filling teeth, and seek in price to make no competition with cheap Dentists; and desire the patronage of such persons only as wish their operations performed in the most perfect and skillful manner.

Operations that fail to give satisfaction need not be taken or paid for. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Indigent persons who are unable to pay full professional charges will call before and after office hours. nov4:tf

Emancipation Proclamation.

By the President of the United States, etc.

WHEREAS, On the 22d day of September, 1862, a proclamation was issued by the President of the United States, containing among other things the following—to-wit: That on the 1st day of January, 1863, all persons held as slaves within any State or designated part of a State, the people whereof shall be in rebellion against the United States, shall, henceforth and forever, be free, and the Executive Government of the United States, including the Military and Naval authorities thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such person, and will do no act or acts to repress such persons, or any of them, in any effort they may make for their actual freedom; and that the Executive will on the 1st day of January aforesaid issue a proclamation designating the States and parts of States, if any, in which the people therein respectively shall be in rebellion against the United States, and the fact that any State or people thereof shall on that day be in good faith represented in Congress by members chosen thereto by a majority of the qualified voters in such States, shall, in the absence of strong countervailing testimony, be deemed conclusive evidence that such State or the people thereof are not in rebellion against the United States.

Now, THEREFORE, I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, by virtue of the power in me vested as Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy in time of actual rebellion against the Government of the United States, as a fit and necessary war measure for suppressing said rebellion, do, on this 1st day of January, 1863, and in accordance with my purpose to publish my proclamation after a period of 100 days from the date of the first abovementioned order, designate the States and parts of States therein, the people whereof respectively are at this day in rebellion against the United States, to be the following, to-wit:

Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, (excepting the parishes of St. Barnard, Plaquemine, Jefferson, St. John, St. Charles, Ascension, Assumption, Terrebonne, Lafourche, St. Mary, St. Martin, and New Orleans, including the city of New Orleans,) Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, (except 48 counties, designated as "Western Virginia," and the other counties of Berkley, Accomac, Northampton, Elizabeth City, York, Princess Anne, including the cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth,) which excepted parts are for the present left precisely as if this proclamation were not issued.

And by virtue of the power and for the purpose aforesaid, I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves within these designated States, and parts of States, are and henceforth shall be free; and that the Executive Government of the United States, including the military and naval authority, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons.

And I hereby enjoin upon the people so declared to be free, to abstain from all violence, unless in necessary self-defence; and I recommend to them that in all cases, when allowed, they labor faithfully for reasonable wages.

And I further declare and make known that such persons of suitable condition will be received into the armed service of the United States, to garrison the forts, positions, stations and other places, and to man vessels of all sorts in said service.

Upon this, which is sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution, upon military necessity, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington on the first day of January, A. D., 1863, and of the Independence of the United States of America the 87th year.

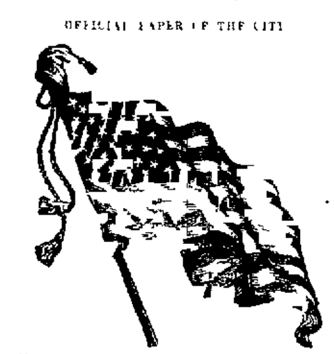
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

MONDAY MORNING, JAN 12, 1863.

Complexion of the War News.

The new year opens with a spectacle of military activity heretofore unsurpassed in the history of the world. The details of the news are extensive, but not entirely satisfactory. There is some difference in the statements of the rebel and the Union papers about the battle of Murfreesboro, but none at all in regard to its final result—the rebels were whipped, and were in full retreat at the last accounts At Vicksburg, the sudden receipt of reinforcements by the rebels, from Arkansas, has reduced Gen. Sherman to the defensive Before this was done, however, the Unionists had torn up thirty five miles of the Vicksburg and Shreveport Railroad, which forms the rebel connection, from the East, with Texas and the Northern part of Louisiana. It is hoped that Gen Banks will at once come to the assistance of Gen Sherman He has abundant material to make the river campaign a success Gen Grant has fallen back to Holly Springs, while his advance occupies Abbeville, one of the most Southern points which his forces have yet reached His presence at Holly Springs is necessary for the protection of Corinth and Memphis, places which are vitally important to the Union cause.

There are many skirmishes, of a magnitude which would have entitled them to the name of battles a year ago, which are dismissed by the telegraph with a few lines each Upon the whole, the fighting is satisfactory In all cases the Union arms have gained new honors, and in many, important successes While the war is conducted in this spirit, the Government will never lack men, whatever else may be tide. Enlistments never will be slack while the orders are to move onward

The President issued his proclamation declaring all the slaves in the contumacious States free, with the exception of certain districts now in possession of the Union armies, or which have manifested a feeling of loyalty to the national cause. Viewing the entire scope and purpose of the efforts of the Federal Government heretofore as being honestly directed towards the restoration of the Union as it was, we have had abundant proof that our Southern brethren have scoffed at all efforts at adjustment—attributing the most moderate means to cowardice, and serious ones to desperation and malignity. They have thus rendered any peace impossible that does not include the absolute defeat of one or the other of the contending sections. In this emergency it is left for every man to consider whether, by opposing the policy of the Government on a quibble of legality, he may not be playing into the hands of the enemy—whether the notes of discord among ourselves may not be aiding or comforting the enemy Having at all times been desirous to see the Union restored with as few organic changes as possible; or, to use the ordinary expression, as it is, we are still in hopes of its restoration—not as it was, then as it may be, and as it ought to be.

REPORTED CAPTURE—A Panama letter to a San Francisco paper says that, after the Ariel was cut loose by the Alabama, two large steamers passed here steering in the direction the pirate had taken. Shortly afterwards a heavy cannonade was heard in that direction The two steamers are believed to have been the Iroquois and Andirondack—two United States ships of war It is thought that they engaged the Alabama and captured her We look on the report as purely sensational.

THIEVES ABOUT—There is certainly a band of thieves and depredators in this community, whose plan of operations is on the smallest [illegible] most harassing scale of rascality We [illegible] that it is only an act of charity to warn [illegible]lemen engaged in larcenious pursuits, [illegible] there is no such thing as straw bail [illegible] in this community Further; no [illegible] of thieves can swear a thief clear before [a P]ortland jury We throw out these delicate hint to disabuse all of the class named [of] any idea of getting loose by any of the thieves' devices which are practiced in other cities, So gentlemen of "the cross" had better be forewarned

THE TELEGRAPH.—The wire for the Portland and Yreka telegraph line was lost with the ship Noonday, wrecked on a sunken rock off the Northwest Farallones, at the entrance of San Francisco Bay. This untoward occurrence will delay the construction of the telegraph line at least six months, and it is likely that new wire will have to be bought at a large advance on that which is lost. It is a most unfortunate affair for the newspaper interest

FAVORS.—We are indebted to Wells, Fargo, & Co for late files of San Francisco papers, and many courtesies. Stratman & Co, newsmen, at the corner of Sansome and Washington streets, San Francisco, will please accept our thanks for abundant files of late Eastern papers

CAIRO, Dec 29.—Gen Van Dorn is believed to be between Bolivar Miss, and the river On the 29th he attacked the Federals, numbering 250, at Davies Mills, 6 miles below Grand Junction, but was repulsed with a loss of 20 killed and 30 wounded He left on the field a number of wounded who were not carried off A number of prisoners were taken The Federal loss was trifling

Gen Grant's falling back across the Tallahatchie is confirmed The main body of the army has been at Holly Springs some days. It is supposed that Grant will now open the Memphis and Charleston railroad, and remove his base of supplies from Cairo to Memphis

The Vicksburg Whig of the 18th says that 14 gunboats and sloops were at Baton Rouge the day before Later information says that Port Hudson had been attacked and completely demolished by our gunboats 60 guns were captured At latest accounts Admiral Farragut had reached a point 20 miles below Vicksburg Gen Sherman's expedition from Memphis has also probably arrived in that vicinity before this

In a skirmish near Helena on Monday last, 20 Federals were captured, and 4 killed, with a number wounded

CHICAGO, Dec 29.—Gen Sherman's expedition is said to be composed of 114 transports, carrying 50,000 men, and 7 gunboats

FAYETTEVILLE, ARK, Dec 29.—On Saturday Gen Herron started with a portion of his cavalry and infantry for the other side of the Boston Mountains Gen Blunt left Cane hill at the same time by another route The two combined are about 6,000 strong They went in light marching order with six days' cooked rations They marched 42 miles without stopping At daylight yesterday morning both commands joined at Lee's creek 3 miles south of the Mountains The cavalry and artillery, numbering some 2,000, started for Van Buren, leaving the infantry to follow as fast as possible

At Dripping Springs two rebel regiments were encountered, and after a sharp skirmish put to flight, leaving 7 killed and many wounded on the field Our forces immediately followed the flying enemy to Konburn, where a splendid charge was made, led by Blunt and Herron in person, resulting in a complete victory over the enemy The rebel cavalry rushed aboard steamboats and escaped to the other side of the river Two steamers and over 100 prisoners, among them several officers, were captured A large quantity of corn, camp equipage, transportation, mules and horses were also seized. The full extent of the captures is not yet known When the messenger left Van Buren the infantry was within eight miles of that place, hastening forward

GREAT BATTLE AT MURFREESBORO'!

The following is a brief review of the movements of Gen Rosekran's army, which is necessary to a proper understanding of affairs in the vicinity of Murfreesboro On Friday morning, the 26th of December, our entire force was in motion from Nashville, sweeping down on the Wilson, Nolinsville and Murfreesboro turnpikes. During the day Col Carlin's brigade of McCook's corps had some wily skirmishing, and one gun and caisson were captured from a Georgia battery, and the enemy were driven back at all points Gen Thomas' corps moved down the Franklin and Wilson turnpikes and intermediate points.—Gen. McCook's corps down the Nolinsville turnpike, and Gen Crittenden's down the Murfreesboro turnpike. At dark we occupied Nolinsville On Saturday, Gen McCook was directed to press Hardee's second division at Triune, and the whole corps moved forward. Hardee fell back rapidly before McCook's eager advance, and Crittenden on the left drove the rebels all day, carrying the bridge on the Jefferson and Murfreesboro turnpike in gallant style. At nightfall the two armies faced each other on opposite sides of Stewart's creek, 20 miles from Nashville Nothing was done on Sunday General Rosekrans declined to attack that day. On Monday morning, at daylight, the army was in motion, and a battle was expected, but with the exception of a duel between Parson's 4th U S Artillery and a rebel battery, nothing was done.—To the right of the Murfreesboro turnpike there was no engagement This was the only opposition made to our crossing the creek —At 1 o'clock we were within six miles of Murfreesboro on the direct turnpike, and at 5 o'clock Gen Crittenden reported the enemy drawn up in line of battle on the east side of Stone river, and he was ordered to form in line of battle, with two divisions in front and reserve. Gen. McCook also reported his command 7 miles from Murfreesboro, with the enemy in line of battle on Stone river From Murfreesboro to the Franklin turnpike, a similar disposition of the forces was ordered in Crittenden's line This will enable all to understand the position of Rosekrans' army

Murfreesboro, January 1.—A terrible bat was fought yesterday

Latest from the Battle field up to Noon.—The rebel centre has been broken, and things looked favorable for us

The following is the substance of intelligence from Murfreesboro, received at Nashville, Tenn. The Federals encountered the rebels on the 30th ult, and after heavy skirmishing, the rebels were driven back We captured 100 prisoners, and killed and wounded a large number of rebels Our loss was 70 killed and wounded At daybreak of the 31st the fight was renewed with great fury —Gen McCook's corps was opposed to Hardee, and after desperate fighting with heavy loss, McCook retreated two miles He soon rallied, but was again driven back at night One report says he was four miles on this side of the ground he occupied in the morning, and another report says the fight lasted until 10 o'clock in the morning, at which time we maintained our position The Federal loss is heavy. Among the killed are Gens. Sill, Willich and Conffer, Cols Kell, Farmer and Jones Lieut Cols Gareschè and Jones

Nashville, January 1.—Gen Rosekrans' army, numbering 45,000 effective men and 100 pieces of artillery, skirmished all the way to the battlefield, the enemy resisting bitterly The whole of Tuesday was spent by our forces reconnoitering The enemy was found strongly posted on a bend of Stone river, on the west side, his flank resting on Murfreesboro His centre, also, had the advantage of high ground, with a dense growth of cedar, masking completely their position, which gave them the advantage of a cross fire During the night dispositions were made to attack the enemy in the morning After dark the enemy were reported moving on McCook, obviously to attack our right This corresponded with the wishes of Rosekrans, who instructed McCook to hold the enemy in check, while the left wing would be thrown into Murfreesboro behind the enemy

At daybreak, on the 31st, everything appeared working well The battle opened on the right, and by 7 o'clock ominous sounds indicated that their fire was approaching our left The fight raged furiously for some time, and the fire continued to approach on the right with alarming rapidity extending to the centre, and it was clear that the right was doubling upon the left The enemy had compelled us to make a complete change of front of that wing and were pressing the centre At this moment six batteries opened on the rebels, who began to give way, and were driven back a mile Our whole line advanced, and the enemy again made formidable demonstrations upon our left, while they prepared for another onslaught on the right.—Meanwhile orders had been issued to move our left on the enemy before he had time to execute them The enemy again burst upon our centre, and it began to break Rosekrans' division was thrown into the breach, and the enemy again retreated hastily into a dense thicket Again they assailed our right and again were driven back By this time the number of stragglers was formidable, and the prospects were rather discouraging but there was no panic The commanding General visited every part of the field, and seemed confident of success

Early in the day we were severely embarrassed by the enterprise of the rebel cavalry, who made sudden dashes upon McCook's ammunition and subsistence train, capturing a number of wagons Artillery ammunition was very scarce at one time, as it was announced that not a wagon load could be found Our batteries were quiet on that account.—This misfortune was caused by the capture of McCook's train About 2 o'clock the battle had shifted from the right to the left The enemy discovering the impossibility of succeeding in their main design, had suddenly massed his forces on the left, crossing the river or moving under cover of high bluffs from his right, and the fight raged unremittingly for a length of time, when they were checked by our murderous fire, both of musketry and artillery

The scene at this period was magnificently terrible The whole battle was in full view the enemy deploying right and left, bringing up their batteries in fine style—our own vomiting smoke and iron missiles upon them with awful fury, and our gallant fellows moving to the front with unflinching courage, or lying flat upon their faces to escape the rebel fire until the moment for action Solid shot, shells and Minnie balls rattled around like hail Rosekrans himself was incessantly exposed His chief of staff, Lieut Col Gareschè, had his head taken off by a round shot, and the blood spattered the General and some of the staff Three orderlies were killed and not ten feet from the General Five or six horses in his staff and escort were struck.—Between four and five o'clock the enemy were apparently exhausted by the rapid and incessant assaults, and took up a position not assailable without abundant artillery, and the fire on both sides slacked and finally ceased at dark, the battle having raged 11 hours

The loss of life on our side, considering the terrific nature of the firing was comparatively limited in wounded The casualty list including captures, does not exceed perhaps 1,500, not one-fourth of whom were killed.—This is attributed to the care taken to make our men lie down. The enemy's loss must have been more severe. Among our losses we have to mourn that of several of our finest officers.

When the battle closed, the enemy occupied the ground which was ours in the morning, and the advantage was therefore in their favor.

Rosekrans determined to renew the battle this morning, and opened furiously with our left at the dawn The enemy, however, would not retire from our right, and the battle worked that way At 11 o'clock matters were not very flattering on their side, At 12, our artillery received new supplies of ammunition, and a terrible fire was opened The enemy then began to give way, Gen Thomas pressing on their centre and Crittenden on their left

News of January 2d,

NASHVILLE, Jan 2.—The battle of Stone River is not yet decided It has been continued for three days, with intermissions Yesterday and to day, after the battle of Wednesday, the enemy persisted in moving upon our right, to cut us off from Nashville, but finding that wing too strong, on Thursday morning they suddenly rushed upon the centre, but were bitterly repulsed by the left of the corps commanded by Thomas and the right of Crittenden's corps Later in the day they fiercely assailed the right and centre again, but were repulsed. Both sides spent the remainder of the day in sharp skirmishing and maneuvering for positions. During the night the enemy appeared to be concentrating again upon the right. Their commands were distinctly heard in our camps; but suspecting a ruse, Rosekrans threw Bently's brigade of Van Cleeve's division across the river on our left, with supports, where they rested About 10 this morning the enemy made another centre attack, but were handsomely repulsed Between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon, a tremendous mass of the enemy suddenly were precipitated upon Bently's brigade, and drove it, after a gallant struggle, clear back across the river Negley's division, which had already immortalized itself, and the division of Jeff C. Davis, were thrown forward successively. The most desperate contest ensued, as both sides in the battle seemed furiously determined to win the victory. Both threw in their artillery, until nearly all the batteries and both armies were at work The uproar of musketry and artillery was of the most furious description, and the whole field was soon shrouded in a pall of smoke Our brave fellows were sadly cut up, but marched to the assault with unflinching determination. Negley at last ordered his division to charge The men pushed forward without faltering, and the enemy suddenly gave way The 30th Pennsylvania charged on the 26th Tennessee, captured its colors, and rushed upon a battery and drove away the gunners, and secured it for a trophy Gen Rosekrans, in the midst of the fierce carnage, ordered the advance of the whole line, and at dark our line was sweeping forward with wild enthusiasm Darkness made it impossible to press our advantage to a conclusion Nevertheless, the left was fairly established on the east bank of the river, the centre advanced to the position heretofore held by the enemy, and the right again advanced almost to the line from which it was driven on Wednesday Thus a decisive advantage is with us To morrow morning however the battle will be resumed and we feel sure of our ultimate victory

Our losses since Wednesday morning may amount to about 4,000 killed and wounded We have also lost a large number of prisoners

MEMPHIS, Jan 1.—Dispatches from Gen Sherman on the battle field of Vicksburg were received at Helena, Ark, on Saturday, the 27th Sherman debarked his force on the left bank of the Yazoo, 10 miles above the mouth and forming in line of battle he advanced towards Vicksburg. After passing a point within reach of the fire of the gunboats he encountered the enemy in force A terrific conflict ensued The enemy were driven back beyond two bayous that gird the rear of Vicksburg and from their entrenched works and one hill by shells

On Saturday night the two armies lay on their arms, with the two bayous intervening During the night pontoons were constructed notwithstanding a terrific fire from the enemy under cover of the undergrowth. At daylight on Sunday, a concerted advance was made by Sherman's whole force At sunrise the whole line was engaged At 10 o'clock the enemy's works on the right were carried by storm This is the latest news received from Vicksburg The place is ours by this time

The gunboats did not cooperate, but the Benton made a demonstration against the batteries on Haines' Bluff During the attack several of her crew were killed Capt Gwin, Commander, is mortally wounded. Gen Banks and Commodore Farragut were expected to aid in the attack on Vicksburg from below, but had not arrived

CAIRO, Jan 4.—The Memphis Bulletin just received, says that the steamer Rattler direct from the fleet at Vicksburg has arrived which place she left on Monday evening Fighting had been going on for five days having commenced on Wednesday Up to Monday morning Sherman had captured three lines of the enemy's works and was bring on the fourth and last line The defence on the Jackson and Vicksburg road had ceased This line is just two miles from Vicksburg There was nothing between Sherman and the city but the trestle work railroad before these fortifications Sherman sent a brigade to cut off communication with the city by the Shreveport railroad, which was successfully accomplished Reinforcements numbering 9,000 had reached Sherman on Sunday night from Grant's command by way of the river Our whole force there was now about 40,000

By the latest accounts we had captured 10 guns and 700 prisoners There is nothing yet from Banks' forces below

CAMP NEAR MURFREESBORO Jan 4.—To Gen Halleck:—I have to announce that the enemy is in full retreat They left last night The river having risen and the bridge not [illegible] between the left wing and the centre being incomplete I deemed it prudent to withdraw that wing during the night The rebels occupied that time until 4 o'clock this morning in their retreat The announcement of the retreat was made known to me at 7.

Our ammunition train arrived during the night To day was occupied in distributing the ammunition burying the dead and collecting the wounded from the field of battle

A pursuit has been commenced by the centre, two leading brigades having arrived at the west side of Stone river This evening we shall occupy the town and push pursuit to-morrow Our Medical Director estimates the wounded in the hospital at [illegible] 500 and our dead at 1,000

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE CUMBERLAND, Jan 5.—To Gen Halleck:—We have fought one of the greatest battles of the war and are victorious Our entire success on the 31st was prevented by the surprise of our right flank We have nevertheless beaten them after a three days fight They fled in great confusion on Saturday night last and their cavalry column left this morning. Their loss was very heavy Gens Rains and Hanson were killed, and Gens Adams, Breckinridge and Gibson wounded

The Daily Oregonian.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

VILLAINOUS.—Yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, some villain cut the cables which attached the bark Sam'l Merritt to Couch's wharf, and she swung out in the stream.—Fortunately the steward of the ship was awake, and detected that the ship was adrift in time to prevent any harm occuring.

ANOTHER.—Some villain has been in the habit of cutting the ropes on the boom at Harbaugh's & Stitzel's steam saw mills. The purpose, evidently, is turn their logs adrift in the current of the river; now strong enough to sweep them beyond recovery, if the boom is once broken.

Masonic.—Stated Communication of Harmony Lodge No. 12, A. F. & A. M., this (Monday) evening, at 6½ o'clock. Brethren in good standing invited to attend

By order of W. M.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stage of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them useful for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16d&w3m

White's Fever and Agu-Drops—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure. In Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

Any number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thereby avoided.

These instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be worn at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by the use of ruptures of several years standing.

DOCTOR VAN ZANDT,

CONSULTING PHYSICIAN & SURGEON.

Office, Corner of Washington and Sansome streets, San Francisco.

The GREAT SUCCESS of the CENTURY as an AID to PRACTICAL MEDICINE.

The Mysterious Problem of Natural Science, Electricity, made subservient for the Cure of all Nervous and Spinal Diseases.

THAT THIS PRINCIPLE, SUCCESSFULLY APPLIED to the diseased states of the system, [illegible] the great [illegible] by physicians [illegible] complaints of the human body. [illegible] is a part of that great principle of [illegible] must have much to do in curing disease [illegible]

Too Much Cannot be Said

In its praise; for it is highly probable that in health there is an exact equilibrium of the Electric principle, and should this exact equilibrium be [illegible] should the body be negatively [illegible] when it should be positively charged—is not the current [illegible] and is there not a want of forces going on in the system? This needs correcting and in order that the tissues of the body should be perceptible [illegible] we must first restore and

Awaken the Magnetic Life within us

The spinal and sympathetic nerve systems. Believing as I do most firmly in the great magnetic or electrical identity of the earth, with its influence upon our bodies in health and disease, I am led to take advantage of [illegible] through which to awaken attention to the subject, that good may come to all.

No Compromise with Disease.

Give the body strength, and nature will relieve itself. Purify the blood, [illegible] the stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and all the natural functions by ELECTRICAL excitation, and at once the sick, the palsied, the nervous, the dyspeptic, [illegible] the invalid [illegible] under its benign influence.

To the Ladies of California.

Dr. Van Zandt's success with complaints of women, both in family and office practice, is owing to his correct views of the origin of all their maladies. Ladies can consult him with entire confidence, as he is no speculator upon human ills—but is proving himself the only member of the legitimate profession in California who is really successful in removing those ills which are the peculiar province of the sex. His high appreciation of their delicately attuned nervous organism, together with their great sympathetic life, renders him doubly able to assuage those silent complainings which they bear so patiently and so long. No special despondency need longer afflict our home circles, for he can awaken the stricken energies, restore the wanted tonicity of the body, awaken the melancholy and despondency, arrest those drains which cause so much anxiety, cure those prevalent maladies which have so long

Baffled the Skill of Physicians.

Develop appetite, life and animation, dispel nervous headache, sinking at the stomach, wandering pains, wasting away of strength, extreme debility and lifelessness, loss of [illegible], sleeplessness, unpleasant dreams and that general depression of life's powers, which go to render her life a misery and death a boon. Dr. Van Zandt, with his new method of exciting the Electro-Galvanic current, together with his remedial measures which are adapted to the necessities of California, will assure you of a complete and radical recovery of all bodily and mental infirmities, and will restore you to usefulness, and spare you a blessing to your family and society.

All the world over

wherever disease exists, whether special to the soil and climate or common to all regions—epidemic or casual, acute or chronic, contagious or non-contagious—it is as necessary to restore the ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium, especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years, and verified by hundreds of patients, so that no principle of science, no rule of experience, no result of any well-known cause, rests upon more sure and unassailable foundations, than those which underlie the world-wide reputation of Electricity for the cure of all nervous states of the body, faulty digestion, mental and physical debility or prostration, coughs, asthma, wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or mercurial character, and all forms of disease, the result of scrofula or cachectic habit of body.

None Need Despair of Relief.

If you have ulcers which will not heal—pains that cannot be removed—melancholy which you cannot shake off—loss of power which you cannot regain—depression of spirits which weigh you down—wakefulness that knows no sleeping—business that languishes for want of energy—a void which no society can fill—suspicion which no assurance can allay—Go to Dr. Van Zandt, for his great success and the safety with which he administers his new method of electrical excitation, together with his remedies, which are adapted to the requirements of climate and constitution, will assure you of a complete and radical removal of all bodily and mental infirmities, within the scope of science and man to remove.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr. Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study, and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a diploma for that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are purely deranged nervous action, and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

THE BABY

Another little wave
Upon the sea of life
Another soul to [illegible]
Amid the toil and strife

Two more little feet
To walk the dusty road
To choose where two paths meet
The narrow and the broad

Two more little hands
To work for good or ill
Two more little eyes
Another little will

Another heart to love
Receiving love again
And so the baby came
A thing of joy and pain

How to Keep Him.

"Out again to night?" said Mrs Hayes fretfully as her husband rose from the tea table and donned his great coat

"Yes, I have an engagement with Moore will be in early leave a light in the library Good night and with a careless nod William Hayes left the room

"Always the way," murmured Lizzie Hayes, sinking back upon a sofa "Out every night I don't believe he cares one bit about me now, and yet we've been married but two years No man could have a more orderly house I'm sure, and I never go anywhere, I am not a bit extravagant Oh dear! why is it? I was not rich, he did not marry me for money, and he must have loved me then—why does he now treat me with so much neglect? And with her mind filled with such fretful queries, Lizzie Hayes fell asleep on the sofa

Let me paint a picture as she lay there She was a blonde, with small graceful figure and a very pretty face The hair, which showed by its rich waves its tendency to curl, was brushed smoothly back, and gathered into a rich knot at the back, "it was such a bother to curl it," she said her cheek was pale, and her whole face wore a discontented expression Her dress was a neat chintz wrapper, but she wore neither collar nor sleeves "What's the use in dressing up just for William?"

Lizzie slept soundly for two hours, and then awoke suddenly She sat up, glanced at the clock, and sighed drearily at the long interval to be spent alone before her bed time

The library was just over the room in which she sat, and down the furnace flue through the register, a voice came to the young wife's ears. It was the voice of her husband

"Well, Moore, what is a man to do? I was disappointed, and I must have pleasure somewhere Who could have fancied that Lizzie Jarvis, so perfectly sprightly and loving could have changed to the fretful dowdy she now is? Who wants to stay at home and hear his wife whining all the evening about her troublesome servants, and headaches, and all sorts of bothers? She has got the knack of drawling so, that upon my life I do not believe she could speak a pleasant word"

Lizzie sat as if stunned. If not exactly a dowdy, her costume was certainly not fit for an evening, even if it were an evening at home, with only William to admire She rose and softly went to her own room, with bitter and sorrowful thoughts, with a firm resolution to win back her husband, and then, his love regained, keep it

The next morning William came into the room with his usual careless manner, but a bright smile came on his lips as he saw Lizzie A pretty chintz wrapper with a neat collar, and sleeves of snowy muslin, and a wreath of soft, full curls, had really metamorphosed her; while the blush her husband's admiring glance called up to her cheek did not detract from her beauty At first William thought there must be some guest, but by a glance he found they were alone

"Come, William, your coffee will be stone cold," said Lizzie in a cheery, pleasant voice

"It must be cool, till you sweeten my breakfast with a kiss," said her husband crossing the room to her side, and Lizzie's heart bounded as she recognized the old lover's tone and manner

Not one fretful speech not one complaint, fell upon William's ear during the meal. The newspaper, his usual solace at that hour, lay untouched, as Lizzie chatted gaily on every pleasant subject she could think of, warming by his gratified interest and cordial manner

"You will be at home to dinner?" she said, as he went out

"Can't to-day, Lizzie; I have business out of town, but I'll be at home early to tea Have something substantial, for I don't expect to dine Good bye" And the smiling look, warm kiss and lively whistle, were a marked contrast to his lounging, careless gait of the evening previous

"I am in the right path," said Lizzie, in a low whisper "Oh, what a fool I have been for two years! A fretful dowdy!—William, you shall never say that again"

Lizzie loved her husband with true wifely devotion, and her lips would quiver as she thought of his confidence to his friend Moore, but like a brave, little woman, she stifled back the bitter feeling, and tripped off to perfect her plans The grand piano, silent for many months was opened, and the linen cover removed from the furniture Lizzie was thinking "He shan't find any parlor more attractive than his own, I am determined"

Tea time came, and William came with it; a little figure in a tasty silk dress, smooth curls, and oh! such a lovely blush and smile, stood ready to welcome William as he came in, and tea passed as the morning had done

After tea there was no movement as usual toward the hat rack William stood up beside the table, lingering chattering, till Lizzie also rose She led him to the light, warm parlor, in the glow of its tasteful arrangement and drew him down on the sofa beside her He felt as if he were courting her over-again, as he watched her fingers busy with some needle work and listened to the cheerful voice he had loved so two years ago

"What are you making Lizzie?"

"A pair of slippers Do you remember how much you admired the pair I made for you ever so long ago"

"I remember, black velvet, with flowers on them I used to put my feet on the fender and dream of blue eyes and light curls and wish time would move faster to the day when I could bring home my bonny wee wife to make music in my house

Lizzie's face saddened for a moment as she thought of the last two years and how little music she had made for his loving heart, gradually weaning it from allegiance and then said, "I wonder if you love music as you did then?"

"Of course I do I often drop in at Miss Smith's, for nothing else than to hear the music"

"I can play and sing better than Miss Smith," said Lizzie half pouting

"But you always say you are out of practice when I ask you

"I had the piano tuned this morning Now open it and we will see how it sounds

William obeyed her joyfully, and tossing aside her sewing Lizzie took the music stool She had a very sweet voice not powerful but most musical and she was a very fair performer on the piano

"Ballads, Lizzie

"Oh, yes, I know you dislike opera music in the parlor

The little clock struck eleven

"Eleven I thought it was about nine I ought to apologize, Lizzie as I used to do, for staying so long, and I can truly say as I did then that the time has passed so pleasantly I can scarcely believe it is so late"

The piano was closed Lizzie's work was put in the basket and William was ready to go up stairs, but looking back, he saw his little wife near the fire place her hands clasped, her head bowed, and large tears falling from her eyes He was beside her in an instant

"Lizzie, darling, are you ill? What is the matter?"

"Oh, William I have been such a bad wife! I heard you tell Mr Moore last evening how I had disappointed you, but I will try to make your home pleasant, indeed I will, if you will only forgive and love me"

"Love you! Oh Lizzie, you cannot guess how dearly I love you"

As the little wife lay down that night, she thought—"I have won him back again! Better than that—I have learned to keep him"

Something about Gas —The December number of Harper's New Monthly contains the following in relation to the price of gas

The price of gas to the consumer varies according to the nearness of a city to the coal districts, as well as by the quantity they manufacture, the largest makers of course affording it at a more reduced rate than the small towns Pittsburg is undoubtedly the lowest, charging but $1 80 per 1000 feet while Auburn and Watertown, New York, Belfast, Maine, and Charlotte, North Carolina are the dearest, all these places charging $7 00 per 1000 feet New York, Boston, and Cincinnati give the consumer the pure thing for $2 50 per 1000 feet; Philadelphia charges $2 13, Chicago, $3 50 Troy, $3 60, St Louis $3 50 and Richmond, Virginia, $2 85 The city of London charges six shillings ($1 40) per 1000 feet

The "Photometer room" and the manner of testing the strength of gas is thus described

The walls and ceiling were as a Milesian gentleman would express it, whitewashed black, that effect being produced with lamp-black and turpentine to prevent any reflection of light The shutters closed without a seam to admit even a twinkle, and there in the blackest of darkness we were Out of this darkness came the voice of the engineer laying down the rules by which the strength of gas is judged as compared with a candle of sperm or wax The practical portion was shown by lighting a gas jet at one end of a frame standing in the centre of the room, and a candle on the other end of the same frame The gas coming through this jet is made by means of a regulator, to burn at the uniform rate of five cubic feet per hour On a slide, running exactly in a line between candle and gas jet, which are 100 inches apart, is a round frame on which is stretched paper, oiled all but a small circular spot in the centre which is left plain When this frame is midway between gas and candle the plain spot is easily seen on the candle side, the gas being the stronger light As it is brought along the slide nearer the candle this clear spot disappears, until at a certain point both sides of the paper will look alike the light being equalized This slide is marked into certain divisions and numbered by which the actual strength of the gas is known, as compared with the candle With this instrument the engineer is enabled to tell to a nicety the article he is giving the public, and to give it them at a uniform strength of fifteen candles for each burner when consuming at the rate of five cubic feet per hour

Singular Fatality —Some ten years ago, a man named Keiger killed another man in Marysville Last year a citizen of Sonora California, named John Davis was arrested as the man Keiger, and tried for the offense He got clear on some pretext While his trial was pending his leading counsel killed a man in the streets of Sacramento, and on the 26th of December D O McCarty proprietor of the Sonora Flag, killed Davis or Keiger as thousands believe him to be
